Luxury Row adds Golden Goose

Apr 9, 2019, 1:33pm HST

Italian high-end retailer Golden Goose has set up shop at Luxury Row in Waikiki in the space Townhouse 2124 — formerly occupied by Hugo Boss — adjacent to Bottega Veneta. The street apparel store is leasing the entire 5,250-square-foot, three-story townhouse at 2100 Kalakaua Avenue. It opened with four full-time employees.

Golden Goose has eight flagship stores in the United States and 68 worldwide, this is its first Hawaii location. The store will carry the brand's full female, male and kids collections as well as select products like apparel, leather bags, wallets, pouches and card holders. It will also introduce lines unique to the Waikiki store.

"We are excited by their iconic casual street wear that is so relevant in today's fashion world, the quality traffic they attract and their youthful imagery," Co-owner of Luxury Row Robert Siegel, CEO of Metropole Realty Advisors, Inc., told PBN.

The Waikiki space is one a few where Golden Goose is trying out a "LACES Bar" concept where shoppers can find exclusive sneaker laces in a variety of colors, fabrics and prints.

The addition of Golden Goose in Luxury Row filled one of the townhouse vacancies. The corner townhouse, which used to house Tiffany & Co., still remains vacant but prospective tenants are being looked into in the upcoming weeks, according to Siegel.

"The townhouse facade, each with a different design, presents a much stronger presence than a storefront can," Siegel said. "Moreover, the sales of the majority of Luxury Row's tenants have consistently been among the brands' highest sales volumes per square foot in the world since our purchase of the property in 2004, with sales exceeding Rodeo Drive, Madison Ave. and Fifth Ave., where we also own properties."
